Taking advantage of the masses
is bound to success

The masses provide a background for the revolution. The revolution's forces are the masses. The revolution's success would have never been possible without the masses' support. Therefore, to that end, we must maintain close contacts with the masses.

Making use of the masses is to propagandize, organize, lead the masses and bring into play all their strength to launch a revolution. That is our focal task as well as most difficult one to be done.

During the past period of the movement, it seems that we have won the masses' strong support in material and men terms. But, in fact, we have not won them over. The recent terror by the imperialist shows that owing to the masses' lack of political awareness and apathy of the current situation, the movement has failed. This is the valuable lesson to be learnt. In short, in organizing the masses, we should concentrate on quality ~~there~~ rather than quantity, thus possibly obtaining the final goals.

In dealing with the intense period, ahead ~~of~~ ^{that} we should perceive.

1) Against the current political background of our country, the most important thing to be particularly concerned is the conflict between the Japanese and the French. The conflict may gear for a major watershed at the time.

The British-American victories over the French is likely to result in the government's collapse. The change possibly occurs in an abrupt moment.

Therefore, in Indochina, the French and the Japanese ~~are~~ can not but be concerned and are plotting to deal with each other. Once government collapses, the government sooner or later will be overthrown by the Japanese. Obviously, they both are worried. But, possible Langson incident is in sight in many areas and likely to bring about a decent chance for us.

2) Trung Chau inhabitants living in and around towns recently have been plunged into a state of misery by the French. permits for procuring timber logs just have been granted to the natives. ~~except~~ with the exception of Trung Chau inhabitants. Frustrated and poor, how could they make ends meet. What a life!

strictly observing the disciplines is the precondition for victory.

Discipline is the rule of organization. Organization and revolution can not exist without discipline. Simply, if anyone does things at will, regardless of the majority's views, higher commands, resolutions, the word of "organization" will never make sense. To obey the discipline is to drop private opinions in accordance with the latter. ~~As~~ As it is said that our strength lies in the solidarity. The unity is very adherent to discipline. ~~China~~ The oneness of minds, hundreds as one can do whatever needed. As vietnamese saying reads: "A couple can make a great success over in ~~unanimously~~ unanimity." By comparison with the couple, with 25 million our fellowmen, the imperialists are to be doomed to ~~the~~ failure.

As discipline is so necessary, we should keep far away from acts of breaking the discipline such as personal acts, individualism, localism or fragmentationism.

By and large, the more pressing the situations and our tasks are, the more ~~strict~~ severe our disciplines are to be taken for the military disciplines.

In Europe: The Red Army is quickly advancing. Hitler is reportedly ~~assassinated~~ for the second time. The British-US troops lands on the Southern part of France.

In Asia: Japan is endangered in Northern China.

On the Russian Front: The Red Army is quickly and strongly advancing in the North ^{the} Centre and the South. ~~The~~ In the North, The Red Army marched into Prussia. In the centre it reached the borders of Poland and Germany. In the South, it crossed Hungary and Czechoslovakia ~~to come into spearheading~~ ~~towards~~ in order to enter Germany or to encircle and annihilate the German contingent in the South.

The German troops are showing signs of collapse. To escape from death, ~~the~~ German troops have more and more on the Russian Front surrendered to the Red Army.

Germany's internal affairs: Situation is deteriorating. Hitler was reportedly assassinated for the second time but ~~was able to~~ escaped from death by chance. This time he may have to resign but ~~as~~ this news ~~is~~ has not been confirmed yet.

In France: On 15 August by solar calendar, having bombarded fortresses, highway by hundreds of jet fighters, the British-US troops landed Southern France along 150 km long sea beach from Nice to Marseille. Some days later, 4 ports were occupied: they were: Toulon, Bormes, Saint tropez, Cane. the Nazis could not resist against. Now the British & American forces continued to attack cities and march towards the mainland.

In China: The Sino-Japanese War is staging in a new period which can bring about great changes. On the one hand, the Japanese fascists sent the Manchurian army to the south to attack Truong Sa, Hankou and intimidate Que Lan, Canton province and Queangdong. On the other hand, ~~(eightway forces)~~ Chinese forces (~~of the~~) coordinated with Mongolian forces to march into Nkhiet Ha & Mauchy and everywhere incouraged guerrillas who made pushed Japanese forces ~~imberbed~~ in disorder. The victory of Chinese forces (eight way forces) and of the Mongolian forces in the north of China forced the Japanese army of in the south of China to move to the North to cope with them. and that will help China's army regain Truong Sa, Hankou, Dulong
